The Anvil Herald Print Shop turned out the initial issue of Volume IV of the Huajillo Leaf this week. The Huajillo Leaf is the school paper and for three years has been the creditable spokesman for our school. The young people have taken a justifiable pride in their paper and it has reflected credit upon both the school and the community. For some reason it is not so well patronized this year by advertisers as formerly, and it appears in the form of only eight pages instead of twelve, as heretofore. However, with all that, it compares favorably with the best of publications of its class and surpasses many. Our citizenship should realize that the school paper is a part of their school, that it reflects to the public their loyalty to the school and their pride in its achievements, and should encourage the young people both morally and financially to the extent of their ability.

The Huajillo will appear twice each month during the remainder of the school term.

Messrs. H. H. Williams and Fred Rodway were Hondo visitors over Thursday and Thursday night. Mr.
Williams is the versatile editor of San Antonio Express' Cattle Clatter column. He was taking a few days' vacation from seventeen months' continuous and strenuous work, and was accompanying Mr. Rodway, who,
as District Manager of the Tick Eradication work of this section, was making an inspection tour of this section, on his trip. They left here yesterday morning for Uvalde and other points west. Mr. Williams
spent an enjoyable time with his son,
Morris Williams, who for the past
several months has been this paper's
linotype operator.

Max Jesse was over from Castro-
ville last Monday and while in Hon-
do paid our office an appreciated
call. Mr. Jesse informed us that the Castroville Creamery property
recently changed hands, the machinery is being overhauled, the grounds
and buildings repaired and re-modeled, and a creamery, ice factory and
ice cream factory will be opened.
In addition, a pleasure park will be
made out of the grounds and motor
boats placed on the river so as to render the grounds a pleasure resort
of much interest. Mr. Jesse thinks
there is a great future in store for Castroville, both as an industrial
center and as a pleasure resort.

We are in receipt of the first issue
of Volume II of the Castroville High School Times, a three column, eight
page paper, published monthly by
the Castroville High School.

The paper is a highly creditable representative of the school and is well patronized by the business men of Cas-
troville and Lacoste. Prof. K. B.
Holmes and his assistants are doing
splendid work in building up the Castroville public school.

Hondo High School's football team,
accompanied by quite a number of
football fans, went down to Pearsall
Friday to play the Pearsall team.
Hondo went down in too much confidence; she returned in sorrow—
Pearsall took the game by a score
of seven to none!

Beginning the first of October we
will hemstitch or picot at the following prices: 8¢ per yard for hemstitching thread; 10¢ per yard for silk thread. Orders less than one yard 10¢. We furnish thread.

yesterday morning for Uvalde and
other points west. Mr. Williams
spent an enjoyable time with his son,
Morris Williams, who for the past
several months has been this paper's
linotype operator.

Max Jesse was over from Castro-
ville last Monday and while in Hon-
do paid our office an appreciated
call. Mr. Jesse informed us that
the Castroville Creamery property
recently changed hands, the machinery is being overhauled, the grounds
and buildings repaired and re-modeled, and a creamery, ice factory and
ice cream factory will be opened.
In addition, a pleasure park will be
made out of the grounds and motor
boats placed on the river so as to
render the grounds a pleasure resort
of much interest. Mr. Jesse thinks
there is a great future in store for Castroville, both as an industrial
center and as a pleasure resort.

We are in receipt of the first issue
of Volume II of the Castroville High School Times, a three column, eight
page paper, published monthly by
the Castroville High School.

The paper is a highly creditable representative of the school and is well pa-
tronized by the business men of Cas-
troville and Lacoste. Prof. K. B.
Holmes and his assistants are doing
splendid work in building up the Castroville public school.

Hondo High School's football team,
accompanied by quite a number of
football fans, went down to Pearsall
Friday to play the Pearsall team.
Hondo went down in too much confidence; she returned in sorrow—
Pearsall took the game by a score
of seven to none!

Beginning the first of October we
will hemstitch or picot at the following prices: 8¢ per yard for hem-
stitching thread; 10¢ per yard for
silk thread. Orders less than one yard 10¢. We furnish thread.

HONDO-W. T. M. A. GAME

The Supremacy of old Hondo High is Again Brought out in the Result of Hondo-W. T. M. A.
Game.

From the Huajillo Leaf.

The Military Birds went down before Hondo High with a score of 13 to 7.

Last Saturday the much talked of game came off. A lot of the San Antonio folks came out to see their boys "lay it over us."

At four o'clock the battlers lined up for the fight. Hondo kicked the ball to West Texas' quarter. His run was soon brought to a stop; the playing then began with a vim, with Hondo defending the north goal.

West Texas fumbled the ball but regained it. The next down West Texas was off side and were then to kick. Hondo made first down, which showed that they were "going in for business." They were at last forced to kick, but when West Texas got the ball, they were off side twice, and this put them back to where they were forced to punt. Hondo again made first down. Tony made an end run of twenty-five yards; then the whistle blew "time up for quarter."

Hondo was then seventeen yards from the goal, but was penalized fifteen yards. Tony then drop-kicked and West Texas got the ball. Reinhart Rothe tackled the man behind the line, which put them back to where they were forced to kick. Marion Davis blocked this punt and Homer Wilson covered the ball behind their goal line. This made us a touchdown; and when we scored a goal by a place kick, the score was Hondo 7; West Texas 0.

Hondo kicked and West Texas took the north goal. West Texas' quarter got the ball, and Elmer Neuman got the quarter. In the first down West Texas fumbled and Marion Davis recovered the ball. Tony Windrow made a ten yard end run, then made first down. Tony passed, but West Texas blocked it. Hondo again made first down, and then Tony made another end run of fifteen yards. Tony next made a line plunge for a touchdown. Hondo tried a pass for a point but did not complete it. This made the score 13-0 in Hondo's favor.

Hondo kicked and the West Texas team brought the ball to Hondo's seventy-yard line. Weaver of W. T. M. A. made a twelve yard end run. Time was then called for the half.

After a fifteen-minute intermission during the half the armies lined up again with Hondo defending the south goal. West Texas booted the pigskin to Tony on the sixty-five yard line, and time was called out on Homer Wilson, Hondo, on account of his trying to swallow a finger with his eye. Time was called and Oscar Fillemen made a twenty-two yard gain on an end run. As Hondo then tried to pass but failed, they punted. Delaney of West Texas received the ball and made a gain of twenty yards by an end run. The opponents began to batter Hondo's line, but were again penalized for being off side. They failed to complete a pass, but made ten yards on a fake, then ten yards on an end run, and again twelve yards on another end run. They then fumbled the ball but recovered it. The whistle blew and neither side gained anything this quarter.

Time in! The ball went into play and Reinhart Rothe got the man behind the line; West Texas pulled another fake which netted them four yards, but were then held for downs.

The ball went over on the twenty-yard line and Tony made a thirty-yard end run. Bennie Bradley fumbled the ball behind the line but recovered it. Fourth down, fifteen to go; so Hondo resorted to a punt. Delaney of West Texas received the ball and Neuman, Hondo, got him. Homer Wilson got a man behind their line. West Texas tried a pass but failed. They tried another and completed it. The man was open and he ran fifty yards for a touchdown. They kicked goal, thus bringing the score to 13-7 in Hondo's favor.

Bennie Bradley of Hondo received the ball, and while tearing down the field like a runaway horse, was suddenly hit by a big opponent and knocked out. J. C. Merriman, Hondo, fumbled the ball in front of the line but recovered it, thus making first down. West Texas held for downs, so Hondo had to punt. West Texas returned the ball forty yards. As they battered Hondo's line in a futile endeavor to make first down, the ball went over. A West Texas man broke through the line and got Bennie. The man "got down on the ball," but the whistle blew, and a glorious shout rent the air—Hondo had won!

Following is Hondo's line-up:

Left End, Homer Wilson
Left Tackle, Elmer Neuman
Left Guard, Preston Gaines

Center, Albert Hutzler
Right Guard, Chas. Brucks

Right Tackle, Marion Davis
Right End, Reinhart Rothe
Left Half, Oscar Fillemen
Full Back, J. C. Merriman

Right Half, Bennie Bradley
Quarter Back, Tony Windrow.

From The Devine News.

Large Crowd Hears Interesting Debate.

Quite a large crowd of people from Devine, Bivry and Black Creek attended the first meeting of the Shookville Literary Society Friday night. The program rendered by the school was short and appropriate, and the debate, "Resolved, that Texas should enforce the compulsory education laws," between Henry Bendele, champion for the affirmative and M. E. Dubose, champion for the negative, was very interesting, and caused uproarious laughter at times. D. C. Brown ably assisted the negative and W. L. Dubose, in the absence of any other Shookville speaker, assisted the affirmative. County Superintendent W. N. Saathoff presided and Misses McCon, Estes and Thompson, teachers of the Bivry and Natalia schools, acted as judges. They voted two for the affirmative and one for the negative. Mr. Saathoff made a very fine talk after the debate, congratulating the people on their nice new school building, and said the teachers were as good as could be found in the county, and that Medina county teachers were above the average.

He advised organization for future entertainment; which followed his talk. Mr. D. H. Griffin was elected president; Miss Octavia West, secretary, and Alton Griffin, news reporter. A program will be rendered on October 13th, and will be published next week. Everybody around Shook was out and said it was as good as a show.

THE WRECK

By MYRA A. WINGATE

A girl came swaying down the car, slender and tall, in a blue serge of pleasing lines, and paused with one hand on the back of a seat to await the clearing of the crowded aisle. Hamilton noticed the slim whiteness of the hand and the odd shortness of the little finger. Once, her eyes, clear and impersonal, met his.

He glanced out at the autumn landscape through which the road lay, and again at his watch, calculating the time of arrival.

A terrible shock and a rending crash and roar! Shouts, and sickening pain, and darkness horrible! From that darkness Hamilton gradually emerged to a consciousness that some one was groaning as if in pain, and later a realization that it was he who groaned. With the effort to drag himself clear of the wreckage came the knowledge that his right leg was pinned fast. He set his teeth to bear the pain. Somewhere a girl's voice was saying:

"Steady, steady!"

She came crawling toward him, under the wreckage.

"Something to dig with," she said.

An interval and she was back with a sharp flake of rock.

"There," she said at last, "now one heroic effort, and I think you'll be free."

Another effort, and they were clear of the wreck. In her exhaustion she drooped her head on her arms and he turned his face and reverently kissed her dust begrimed cheek. Again the blackness descended.

If his friends had known how many times in the next five years Hamilton made the trip over that branch road in the hope of meeting a girl with a short little finger and a contralto voice they would have considered him slightly mad. Although he was quite as likely to find her in San Francisco, he felt constrained to seek her in that one spot. Traveling down that way for the twentieth time he leaned from the window to scan the platform at the little station of a summer colony.

"Steady! Steady!" said the soothing voice.

He could distinguish the short little finger where the hand rested upon the collar of a wriggling small boy's sailor suit.

Hamilton caught up his suitcase and bolted from the car.

Her face lighted with recognition.

"I knew you at once, Mr. Hamilton. How do you do? After all, you know some of the rescuers would have found you, eventually, so you needn't thank me except for being spared some discomfort."

The tall man and two children were fast approaching. Hamilton said quickly: "I can't help being everlasting grateful."

"It's quite all right," she assured him, and was swept away in the crowd of home-comers, one of whom saluted the tall man with a cheer: "How are you, Hunt?" adding, "evening, Mrs. Hunt and Miss Page."

After a restless night, he was early afoot for a tramp through woody paths along the shore. He finally threw himself upon the sun-warmed sand for a doze, from which he was startled by the sound of trampling hoofs. As he sprang to his feet the horse shied and would have bolted dangerously but for Hamilton's quick hand upon the bridle.

"Steady, Roman!" soothed the rider. "Good morning, Mr. Hamilton. We do not often find a fellow explorer so far abroad."

He replied gravely: "Good morning, Mrs. Hunt."

"You make a strange mistake, Mr. Hamilton," said the girl deliberately. "I am Jane Page. My sister is Mrs. Hunt."

"I thought you'd know I would come," he said confusedly.

"Then there was a man, and some one said, 'Mrs. Hunt.' I thought you hadn't waited. It was a natural mistake."

"Circumstantial evidence and not sufficient to convict," Miss Page assured him. Then suddenly she bent and lightly touched the perplexed forehead with her lips.

"Come down," he said masterfully, holding out his hand. "We have so much to say to each other that it will take all the rest of the years to say it."

"Please don't say it all—yet," she begged. "Remember, we really scarcely know each other."

"We'll have all the rest of the summer to learn," he said decisively. "And if you like it—"

"Yes," answered Jane mischievously, "if I like it."

Phlox.

The annual, or Drummond phlox, is particularly useful and attractive when sown in masses or ribbon beds of contrasting colors. The phloxes are also useful as window-garden plants and may be used as an undergrowth for tall, bare-stemmed plants. The first sowing of seed should be made as soon as frost is out of the ground in the spring; another month later, either where the plants are to bloom or in a seed bed, as the phlox transplants readily. In transplanting set the taller kinds about a foot apart. If planted too thickly they suffer from mildew. The removal of flowers and seed pods makes the plants more bushy and compact and lengthens their blooming period. The average height of the plants is about a foot.—United States Department of Agriculture.

Two Old Indian Fighters

XAVIER WANTZ (Seated)
ED TSCHIRHART (Standing)

From a photograph taken ten or fifteen years ago.

XAVIER WANTZ DEAD.

Another Medina county pioneer passed to the realms whose portals we call death when Mr. Xavier Wantz breathed his last at 7:15 o'clock p.m., Monday, October 2, 1922. The remains were buried in the old Hondo Cemetery, by the side of his only son, Wednesday afternoon, his pastor, Rev. G. E. Gruuber of the Hondo Lutheran Church, conducting the funeral services, assisted by Rev. A. Falkenberg, for many years his pastor, and Rev. Fred Bohmfaulk, a friend from his boyhood days, each of whom delivered touching eulogies at the grave.

The pallbearers were: August Schuehle, Val Nester, John Saathoff and Felix Batot. A large concourse of sorrowing friends from all parts of the county was present at the grave, and the floral offerings were profuse and beautiful.

Rev. Gruuber said in part at the grave:

“Mr. Xavier Wantz was born in Strassburg, Alsace, on August 15, 1844, and came to Texas with his parents as part of Castro's colony, landing at Port Lavaca, Texas, on January 1, 1845. From the memory record of those who were nearest and dearest to him, we learn that in early infancy he was baptized in his homeland, Alsace, and later confirmed in Castroville, Texas.

In 1870, April 16, he was united in marriage to Miss Rosa Martin, and this union was blessed with one son and two daughters, now Mrs. Neuman and Mrs. Kindlon. We believe Mr. Wantz tried to be a Christian, but a road with hardships and struggles meant a continual fight within and without, as he himself had confessed to me: ‘I have had a hard and terrible life in my time.’ His life and experience would fill many pages of human history and these things are fully attested to due to the fact that his name and his deeds found an honorable place on the pages of a Texas Frontier history, entitled ‘Texas Indian Fighters,’ by A. J. Sowell.

Mr. Wantz was not only an upright citizen of sterling character and strong physical qualities, but he was also a pioneer, an old Indian fighter and Texas Ranger, who unflinchingly and courageously helped blaze the path for the white man that he might establish civilization and order.

Mr. Wantz spent the greater part of his life in Medina county. Always strong and healthy, full of life and energy, no time for idle dreams, he worked when most men quit. Yet there came the time when God said: ‘Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further.’

Beginning with the month of June this year, Mr. Wantz became weak and ill. This condition seemed to grow worse and worse as time went on, lingering along and becoming weaker and weaker with accompanying pain. God finally called him to his final rest on Monday, October 2, 1922, at 7:15 p.m. He had reached the ripe old age of 78 years, 1 month and 17 days.

“He leaves to mourn, his wife, the children already mentioned, 4 grandchildren and a host of friends and acquaintances.

“Let us hope and trust that Mr. Wantz's name is also written in heaven, the home of Eternal Life.”

MAN ORPHANED IN SHIP WRECK
AT GALVESTON 77 YEARS AGO, DEAD.

Christopher Schuchart, 82, who came to Texas 77 years ago with his parents from Hanover, Germany, and narrowly escaped drowning when the ship in which he crossed the Atlantic went down in a wreck in 1845 in Galveston Bay, died at his family home at Cliff, Texas, at noon yesterday.

Providence reached out and saved the life of the infant Schuchart during the wreck, as recalled by August Santleben of San Antonio, lifelong friend of Schuchart, who was also among the passengers on the wrecked ship, being only five months old. Several years ago Santleben wrote a book, “A Texas Pioneer,” in which he recited the incident of the storm as the immigrant ship sailed into Galveston Bay in July, 1845.

The ship was seven weeks in crossing from Bremen, Germany, and on reaching Galveston was stranded and wrecked in the bay. Life boats were used and only 35 of the passengers were saved from the crumpled ship, one mile from the shore. Among those saved was the infant Schuchart who was thrown from the ship to Santleben's parents in a lifeboat. Not until the survivors reached the shore was it discovered that Mr. Schuchart's parents were both drowned.

Friends took the orphan child with them when they moved and settled at Castroville. He grew to manhood at Castroville and later settled at Cliff, and lived there continuously until his death. Mr. Schuchart was a well-to-do farmer and ranchman.

During the wreck the ship's cargo and belongings of the passengers were a total loss. The disaster fell heavily on the immigrants who had supplied themselves with wagons and farm implements before leaving Germany. They were destitute when the shore was reached. Many of the survivors managed to reach Cliff and Castroville where they settled.

He is survived by his widow; six sons, Arthur, Lee Mathalma, Raymond and Archie, all of Cliff, and Manuel Schuchart of Lacoste; seven daughters, Mrs. Albert Tuerpe of Benton, Mrs. H. Y. Wurzbach of Cliff, Mrs. John Conway of Culebra, Mrs. F. L. Wurzbach of Cliff, Mrs. Lewis Tezel of Culebra, Mrs. E. B. Haegelin of Riomedina and Miss Gladys Schuchart of Cliff. He is also survived by 28 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The body of the deceased pioneer was brought to San Antonio for funeral services and interment. Services will be conducted today with the Rev. Walter Kralic of Castroville officiating.—San Antonio Express of October 6.
